March Relief Cost Up, Marcy's Report Shows

Expenditures for relief by the Pickaway county relief department during March amounted to $4,911.38.

D. H. Marcy, county relief director, said the funds were expended to 310 families. Relief expenditures in March last year amounted to $3,905.14. He attributed the increase to the department providing relief funds to 28 women discharged from W.P.A. These women have returned to work on W.P.A. and will not receive relief this month.

NAVY MAY JOIN IN SEARCH FOR OCEAN CRUISER

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6—Participation of a U. S. navy cruiser in the search for Richard Halliburton's Chinese junk, unreported since March 23, loomed today.

Wilfred Crowell, San Francisco representative of the young American writer and adventurer, asked the navy to divert its new cruiser Astoria, enroute to Japan with the ashes of the late Nipponese ambassador, Hiroshi Saito, in the area west of Midway island where Halliburton and his crew of 14 last radioed their position.

Mackay Radio meanwhile reported the liner President Adams had passed over the area without sighting the small combination Diesel-sail craft in which Halliburton embarked from Hong Kong March 4 on a cruise to the Golden Gate International exposition.

All naval vessels and stations of the Pacific area last week were ordered to make special efforts to communicate with the silent craft. No government ships, however, have been assigned to special search.

DUCE TO LAND MEN AT THREE ADRIATIC PORTS

King Zog's Regulars Not To Resist; Jugoslavia May Receive Land

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, April 6—An Albanian "free corps" numbering between 10,000 and 15,000 men may seek to prevent Italy from establishing a "protectorate" over the tiny Adriatic country ruled by King Zog, according to reports received today by Albanian quarters in Belgrade.

It was understood, here, however, that the Albanian government would not prevent the "free corps" from resisting, but would refrain from sending any regular Albanian troops to oppose the Italians.

According to advices in Belgrade, the "free corps" in Albania consists chiefly of peasants. They are reported determined to resist Italian efforts to land troops in Albania.

Information sent to Belgrade by the Italian government indicated Premier Mussolini's troops will land at the Albanian ports of Valona, Durazzo and Skutari.

It is at these points that the "free corps" forces are reported to be massing in the hope of beating back the Italians.

To Take Three Ports
Advices direct to Belgrade from Tirana stated that Italy is planning only to occupy the three ports rather than extend military domination over the entire mountainous kingdom of King Zog.

Informed quarters in Belgrade said they expected the Italian troops to arrive at the Albanian ports either this afternoon or tomorrow morning.

Rumors in Belgrade diplomatic circles said the Italian government promised Jugoslavia a stretch of land along the Albanian border near Skutari in an attempt to forestall possible Jugoslavian opposition to establishment of Italian "protection" over Albania.

MARKET BREAKS AS NEW DANGER SWEEPS EUROPE

NEW YORK, April 6—The stock market broke $1 to more than $4 a share today to new lows on a rush of selling resulting from the Italian-Albania crisis.

The list was weak from the start and showed little rallying power.

The ticker fell behind in heavy selling at the end of the first hour.

Scores of leading issues broke to new lows. Declines of $2 to more than $4 occurred in such stocks as Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Rubber, Westinghouse, Santa Fe railroad, Dupont and Union Pacific.

Grains were higher and cotton declined. Stock markets abroad were weak.

NO EUROPEAN WAR FOR AMERICANS, DECLARE VETERAN OFFICIALS

WASHINGTON, April 6—The three legislators left in congress, who voted 22 years ago against U. S. entry into the World War, today predicted that congress would not again—under any circumstances—send American troops to a war in Europe.

The three men—Senators George W. Norris (R) Nebraska, Ernest Lundeen (D) Minnesota, and Rep. Harold Knutson (R) also of Minnesota—declared they would vote "no" again on a war resolution seeking to send American forces into a European conflict.

They said they were certain, however, that today they would be, not part of a feeble minority, but members of an overwhelming majority.

Norris, who in 1917 at the age of 55 already had served 14 years in congress, termed this country's participation in the World War, "the greatest mistake ever made in the history of government in the United States."

Radcliff Says "Many Bugs" To Be Ironed Out Ere House Ballots

COLUMBUS, April 6—Members of the house judiciary committee indicated today that action on reorganization of the parole board would be delayed after Mrs. Myrna Smith told the committee a woman is needed on the board.

It was pointed out that the bill needs much amending and there was a possibility a substitute measure would be drafted before the house receives it for consideration. The bill has the approval of the senate.

"It is most important that a woman be on the board to look at this problem through the eyes of a woman," Mrs. Smith, who was appointed to the board shortly before former Governor Davey left office last January, told the committee.

She demanded to know what the alleged irregularities were that were charged in the emergency clause of the bill and contended that there were no irregularities.

"If there are irregularities, the people of Ohio are entitled to know what they are," she declared.

Bricker Politics Flayed

She berated Governor Bricker for pledging himself to keep politics out of the conservation department and then appointing Don R. Waters, Republican chairman of Ottawa county, as conservation commissioner.

She charged that the "word has passed down the line from the powers that be that it is necessary to 'get' Myrna Smith."

The question of economy did not enter the picture, she declared, patronage was involved and news reports that the legislation was being pushed by the administration to "oust Myrna Smith" had not been denied.

"It is cowardly and unfair," she added, "to charge irregularities without proving that they exist."

Rep. William D. Radcliff (R-Pickaway) said after the committee had deferred action on the bill for a week that "there are many bugs to be ironed out in this bill."

"The senate passed it and tossed it over to us and we're not going to hurry it through without giving it adequate consideration," Radcliff added.

His statement led to the belief that delay in committee action on the measure would be longer than a week. Rep. Jackson E. Betts (R-Hancock) said the next hearing on the bill would be subject to the call of the chair.

War Days Recalled As U. S. Speeds Defenses

WASHINGTON, April 6—The American government today sped preparations for the nation's defense on the land, at sea, in the air on a scale unprecedented since World War days as the war crisis in Europe threatened world peace.

The army's high command appealed to 75,000 former soldiers to enlist in a corps of "minute men" for instant call to arms, while recruiting went apace in the regular army, air corps and navy to man a rapidly expanding, highly mobile military, naval and air force.

Seventeenth in size among the armies of the world, the American army completed plans to make it one of the best equipped, hardest-hitting, most highly mobile and mechanized armies in the world.

The American navy—The nation's first line of defense—today is the most powerful naval force in the world, with the possible exception of Great Britain, a friendly power.

In the air, the army and navy are poised to produce a combined aerial armada of 9,000 fighting planes—the swiftest, longest range combat and bombing units possessed by any nation, Germany notwithstanding.

With its preparations for national defense security, the government actively organized industry for an overnight shift from peacetime manufacture to wartime production of arms, airplanes, warships and munitions.

Today, in the vast preparations under way, the watchword is thorough basic preparedness for a quick channeling of the nation's peacetime productive efforts into wartime necessities to prevent the 18 months' lag which slowed America's effectiveness in the World War.

Ten thousand factories are being equipped with jigs and dies, and their personnel trained in actual manufacture of war materials.

TEMPERATURE MAY FALL FOLLOWING HEAVY RAIN

Colder weather is expected to follow in the wake of rains in central Ohio Wednesday night and Thursday.

Rain in the 24 hours before 8 a. m. Thursday amounted to .92 of an inch in Circleville. Light rains throughout the morning boosted the measurement over the one inch mark. Snow was mixed with the rain. Highest temperature Wednesday was 55, the lowest during the night 40.

The rain stopped farm work, especially plowing and sowing peas but farmers did not complain about the delay. Rural folk say the rain is ideal for wheat and grasses.

Chiefs Of Two Big Armies Study All Phases Of Possible Trouble

BERLIN, April 6—The Rome-Berlin axis will answer British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's efforts to create an international anti-aggression common front by transforming the axis into an open Italo-German military alliance and by tightening of Italy's grip on Albania, it was strongly indicated in Berlin today.

The first concrete reply of the totalitarian states to Chamberlain was expected in Berlin to be Italian Premier Benito Mussolini's transformation of the 1927 Italo-Albanian pact into an arrangement whereby Italy would go beyond her present control over the small Adriatic nation.

It was considered a strong likelihood, moreover, that the staff talks at Innsbruck between high German and Italian military officers would pave the way for an open military alliance between Rome and Berlin.

Keitel To See Hitler

These reports could not be officially confirmed today but weight was lent to them by the fact that Col. Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German high command, will, on conclusion of the Innsbruck talks, go directly to Berchtesgaden to report to Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler.

At the same time, General Alberto Pariani, Italian army chief of staff and under secretary of war, will hasten from the former Austrian city, just north of the Brenner Pass, to make a personal report to Premier Benito Mussolini in Rome.

It was also considered significant that the Italo-German military talks were to continue throughout the day, observers indicating that the length of the conversations which began yesterday suggested consideration of far from routine matters.

All Phases Considered

It was understood that every possible phase of the European situation was being considered at Innsbruck from the military viewpoint on the assumption that the Germans and Italians will henceforth cooperate one hundred percent on a military basis.

Official circles were silent today on reports that Mussolini is planning to take over Albania and has gathered troops for a rapid invasion. It was assumed to be (Continued on Page Eight)

BRICKER NAMES TRIO TO STUDY HIGHWAY PLAN

Bi-Partisan Commission May Be Organized After Hearings

SOLONS IN LONG CONFAB

State-Wide Hospital Service Association Approved By 119-3 Vote

COLUMBUS, April 6—Appointment of a commission to study the advisability of establishing a bi-partisan state highway commission had been completed today, although the commission was supposed to report its findings to the legislature by March 25.

Completion of the nine-member commission was held up when Governor Bricker neglected to choose his three appointees, although a joint resolution was passed several weeks ago and three members from the senate and house appointed.

The governor said he had not been officially notified of the resolution's adoption.

He named Charles Duncan, Urbana, secretary of the Ohio Highway Contractors' Association; Prof. Clyde Morris of Ohio State University, chairman of a commission which investigated the highway department during the administration of former Governor Davey, and Robert N. Wald, Columbus, former state highway director.

Other members were Sens. Whitney, Nickels and Thomas and Reps. Kellar, Hannah and Elrick.

Bus Ruling Decided

In one of the longest sessions of the current general assembly the house battled through four hours of debate before passing three bills and concurring in senate amendments to a measure authorizing school boards to buy buses on the installment plan.

For more than an hour and a half a fight raged over passage of the Pollock senate bill permitting state-wide operations by hospital service associations. The bill finally passed, 119 to 3. The senate will be required to concur in amendments before the bill goes to the governor.

Designed to provide adequate hospital care for persons in the lower income brackets, the bill erases county boundaries for enrollment of members and extends institutional membership beyond the county line to all hospitals in the plan's area.

Rep. Margaret Mahoney (R-Cuyahoga) and Rep. William O'Neill (R-Washington) led the fight for the bill and O'Neill introduced an amendment giving persons participating in the service plan the right to select their own hospital.

The amendment carried after brisk opposition from the Democratic side of the house, which held that smaller hospitals would be discriminated against.

238,000 Subscribers

The measure places seven non-profit hospital service associations under control of the state insurance department. There are 238,000 subscribers in Columbus, Cleveland, Toledo, Akron, Youngstown, Canton and Newark under the plan, proponents of the bill said.

By a 114 to 2 vote the house approved a bill requiring contractors doing business with the state or political subdivisions to present certificates of compliance with the workmen's act. It too ran into difficulty before the Republican steamroller went to work.

The fact that it was an agreed employer-labor bill roused the ire of the Democratic side and they attacked an amendment which abolished a provision that the industrial commission could not modify compensation awards for a back period in excess of two years prior to the date of filing application for compensation.

Another bill permitting political subdivisions to organize for fire protection passed 110 to 0.

The house deferred action on a bill adding a third member to the civil service commission in order

County Farmers Taking Part in Erosion Setup

Recently, several Ross and Pickaway County farmers have been added to the list of farm owners cooperating with the United States department of Agriculture, Soil Conservation Service. Some of these are G. H. Armstrong, Charles L. Armstrong, E. H. Fetherolf, and A. D. Ellis.

The purpose of this service, according to G. H. Walker, superintendent of Camp Ross located near Chillicothe, is to aid the farmers to obtain better land use and erosion control on their farms. The aim of the representatives of the Soil Conservation Service is to work with a few farmers in this area, setting up typical demonstrations of erosion control practices which may be adopted, in whole or in part, by other farmers having similar problems.

The demonstrations which this group will set up on their farms will include many principles of soil conservation, which, with modifications, may well be adopted on many farms in their locality. These demonstrations will include: contour cultivation, and diversion terraces on sloping cropland; the retirement of the rougher land to either alfalfa-timothy meadows or bluegrass pasture; the retirement of very steep or inaccessible land to forest trees which will not be grazed, and the fertilization of present blue grass pastures to maintain a heavy sod cover to promote better grazing and erosion control.

The camp superintendent pointed out that all of these principles of soil conservation make permanent agriculture possible and if properly applied will increase the farm income and eventually the value of the farms on which they are applied.

Farmers wishing further information on this program may either contact the camp at Chillicothe or their County Agent.

W. P. A. OFFICIAL HITS VIOLATION OF STATE LAW

District W. P. A. officials in Columbus today invited public information on violations of regulations forbidding W. P. A. workers from drawing unemployment compensation insurance benefits while remaining on W. P. A. payrolls. "Complaints already received indicate that the mechanics of unemployment benefit awards, in relation to W. P. A. methods of discharging workers found eligible for unemployment insurance by the commission, have resulted in cases where W. P. A. workers are drawing pay from W. P. A. and unemployment compensation concurrently," said District W. P. A. Director J. L. Kelly in Columbus.

Director Kelly requested similar complaints of specific instances to be directed to Montgomery Campbell, employment supervisor, District Six, W. P. A. in Ohio, 337 South High Street, Columbus.

PENSION ESTATE CLAIMS CARRIED TO HIGHER COURT

COLUMBUS, April 6 — The fight to have old age pensions claims against estates declared prior liens was carried to the Ohio supreme court today when Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert filed a motion to have the test case certified from the Licking county court of appeals.

The case arose from a decision of Probate Judge Henry C. Ashcraft of Licking county that a $529.27 undertakers bill was a prior claim to a $501 debt to the division of aid for the aged, in the estate of the late Alonzo Priest.

Herbert contended the legislature intended that old age pension division claims should have priority over all other debts of the estate when the law was amended in 1937. The pension division had been taking conveyance in trust of real estate held by the pensioner.

The law was amended to dispense with the trust agreement, but gave the state a preferred claim upon the estate of the pensioner at his death.

Herbert's appeal asked the supreme court to rule that "preferred claim" means the first claim to be paid.

BRICKER NAMES TRIO TO STUDY HIGHWAY PLAN

Bi-Partisan Commission May Be Organized After Hearings

SOLONS IN LONG CONFAB

State-Wide Hospital Service Association Approved By 119-3 Vote

COLUMBUS, April 6—Appointment of a commission to study the advisability of establishing a bi-partisan state highway commission had been completed today, although the commission was supposed to report its findings to the legislature by March 25.

Completion of the nine-member commission was held up when Governor Bricker neglected to choose his three appointees, although a joint resolution was passed several weeks ago and three members from the senate and house appointed.

The governor said he had not been officially notified of the resolution's adoption.

He named Charles Duncan, Urbana, secretary of the Ohio Highway Contractors' Association; Prof. Clyde Morris of Ohio State University, chairman of a commission which investigated the highway department during the administration of former Governor Davey, and Robert N. Wald, Columbus, former state highway director.

Other members were Sens. Whitney, Nickels and Thomas and Reps. Kellar, Hannah and Erick.

Bus Ruling Decided

In one of the longest sessions of the current general assembly the house battled through four hours of debate before passing three bills and concurring in senate amendments to a measure authorizing school boards to buy buses on the installment plan.

For more than an hour and a half a fight raged over passage of the Pollock senate bill permitting state-wide operations by hospital service associations. The bill finally passed, 119 to 3. The senate will be required to concur in amendments before the bill goes to the governor.

Designed to provide adequate hospital care for persons in the lower income brackets, the bill erases county boundaries for enrollment of members and extends institutional membership beyond the county line to all hospitals in the plan's area.

Rep. Margaret Mahoney (R-Cuyahoga) and Rep. William O'Neill (R-Washington) led the fight for the bill and O'Neill introduced an amendment giving persons participating in the service plan the right to select their own hospital.

The amendment carried after brisk opposition from the Democratic side of the house, which held that smaller hospitals would be discriminated against.

238,000 Subscribers

The measure places seven non-profit hospital service associations under control of the state insurance department. There are 238,000 subscribers in Columbus, Cleveland, Toledo, Akron, Youngstown, Canton and Newark under the plan, proponents of the bill said.

By a 114 to 2 vote the house approved a bill requiring contractors doing business with the state or political subdivisions to present certificates of compliance with the workmen's act. It too ran into difficulty before the Republican steamroller went to work.

The fact that it was an agreed employer-labor bill roused the ire of the Democratic side and they attacked an amendment which abolished a provision that for a back period in excess of two years prior to the date of filing application for compensation.

Another bill permitting political subdivisions to organize for fire protection passed 110 to 0.

The house deferred action on a bill adding a third member to the civil service commission in order

CITY TO ACCEPT SEWAGE PLANT AT EARLY DATE

Adjustments To Be Made By Loomis Prior To Approval

GRANT PLEA PENDING

$325.25 Collected In Fees By Auditor; Quarterly Bills Out

Councilmen and William Loomis of Logan, contractor on the disposal plant, reached an agreement Wednesday night on the 120-day extension request for the final completion of the plant.

Council at its last meeting requested the extension in the hope of obtaining a supplemental P.W.A. grant to complete certain items on the project. Practically all work at the plant under the present contracts has been completed.

Councilmen and the contractor agreed that the city will take over the plant as soon as some adjustments are completed and Mr. Loomis has worked out arrangements with his bonding firm on this plan.

The occupancy of the plant is not to be considered as final acceptance. Councilmen believe final acceptance of the plant might have some effect on the supplemental grant.

Mr. Loomis desired that the city take over the plant to relieve him of the necessity of paying watchmen.

So far no date has been set for placing the plant in operation. Council hopes to obtain a grant for construction of a roadway, laboratory equipment, and loam, seeding and sodding at the plant. These items were eliminated from the original contract due to lack of funds for them. The previous date established for the plant completion was April 29.

First quarterly bills for the plant operation have been issued to property owners and are payable by April 15. Miss Lillian Young, city auditor, reported to council $325.25 has been collected to date.

CITY TO ACCEPT SEWAGE PLANT AT EARLY DATE

Adjustments To Be Made By Loomis Prior To Approval

GRANT PLEA PENDING

$325.25 Collected In Fees By Auditor; Quarterly Bills Out

Councilmen and William Loomis of Logan, contractor on the disposal plant, reached an agreement Wednesday night on the 120-day extension request for the final completion of the plant.

Council at its last meeting requested the extension in the hope of obtaining a supplemental P.W.A. grant to complete certain items on the project. Practically all work at the plant under the present contracts has been completed.

Councilmen and the contractor agreed that the city will take over the plant as soon as some adjustments are completed and Mr. Loomis has worked out arrangements with his bonding firm on this plan.

The occupancy of the plant is not to be considered as final acceptance. Councilmen believe final acceptance of the plant might have some effect on the supplemental grant.

Mr. Loomis desired that the city take over the plant to relieve him of the necessity of paying watchmen.

So far no date has been set for placing the plant in operation. Council hopes to obtain a grant for construction of a roadway, laboratory equipment, and loam, seeding and sodding at the plant. These items were eliminated from the original contract due to lack of funds for them. The previous date established for the plant completion was April 29.

First quarterly bills for the plant operation have been issued to property owners and are payable by April 15. Miss Lillian Young, city auditor, reported to council $325.25 has been collected to date.

OHIO FARMERS SHOW INTEREST IN CROP PLANS

Signatures Declare Decisions Of 70 Percent To Join
A.A.A. Program

$12,000,000 TO BE PAID

Kruse Says Over-Abundance
Of Grain, Feed Proves
Bad Economy

Increased interest in the 1939 national farm program in Ohio is proved by the declarations of 70 percent of all farmers in the state who have signed up for the current year as compared with 53 percent of farmer participation in 1938, according to Elmer F. Kruse, chairman state AAA committee.

Farmers who have announced their intentions of participating in the 1939 program operate 80 percent of the farm land in the state. The total area of farm land in Ohio is 22,800,000 acres, so more than 17 million acres in 1939 will be operated under a plan designed to provide a fair income; while at the same time, the land is protected from depletion.

In 1938, Ohio farmers participating in the national farm plan diverted 186,000 acres from soil-depleting crops to crops which stop productivity loss or increase soil productivity. These farmers applied 350,000 tons of limestone or its equivalent and 7,000 tons of fertilizer during 1938.

Payments to Ohio farmers under the 1938 national farm plan were approximately $9,000,000. This included payments for changing cropping plans from soil-depleting to soil-conserving and for the use of practices which improve the soil's productivity.

Mr. Kruse estimates that the increased participation by Ohio farmers in this year's program will result in payments of $12,000,000. Over-abundant stocks of grains and feed crops have convinced farm operators that it is bad economy to plant excessive acres, and at the same time decrease the productivity of their farms.

SEYFERT AVENUE PROPERTY NEEDS WATER SUPPLY

Marvin A. Leist, Columbus, appealed to council in a letter Wednesday night for some assistance in working out a problem of obtaining water at his new home on Seyfert avenue.

After his home was under construction he learned the water line did not pass his lot, located at the east end of Seyfert avenue. A sanitary sewer extension is needed also.

Councilmen referred the problem of the water supply to the service committee. Arrangements will be worked out with the water company to extend a line. The city hopes to extend Seyfert avenue to Atwater avenue. If this is accomplished a fire hydrant will be needed in the new section.

Arrangements for a sewer extension will be worked out by L. E. Miller, service director.

PETTENGILL

"The Gentleman from Indiana"

It is high time to take national inventory. There is blame enough to go around. But forget the adjectives; what are the facts? Are we going ahead or not? This is a fundamental question.

PETTENGILL If we once become fully aware of this simple fact we might suspend name calling and face saving and get down to business.

The Department of Commerce has recently published its report on national income from 1929 to 1937. The figures are the government's—not Wall Street's. What do they show?

They show that we have been living off our fat. They show that the nation is growing poorer, not richer. They show that the more abundant life has not been realized for the nation as a whole. Certain groups are better off, but the sum total of all groups is worse off.

Whether you are better or worse off than you were last year, or in 1929, or in 1923-4-5, depends on whether you have added to your net worth or gone behind.

Agriculture is the only large group that is better off. In the eight years since 1929 to the end of 1937, agriculture put on fat to the amount of 6.1 billions. Part of this came from subsidies. Manufacturing lost 9 billions, utilities lost 3.5 billions; wholesale and retail trade lost 5.9 billions; finance, and other business corporations lost 10.6 billions.

Agriculture was in the black 6.1 billions. The other groups were in the red 29 billions. Net loss in net worth 23 billions.

This report shows further startling facts. In every one of these eight years, manufacturing operated at a loss. So did utilities. So did wholesale and retail trade. So did finance. So did all the other corporate business. With the single exception of agriculture, all other business groups lost money every single year. In not a single year did any one group as a whole make money. In 1937 the net loss was 1.4 billions. All this has taken place despite (or because of) government pump priming.

This report does not give the figures for 1938 just ended. But everyone knows that 1938 was worse than 1936 and 1937. So it is apparent that the nation's balance sheet today is still farther in the red.

These government figures should challenge the attention of every citizen, public official, business man, labor leader, working man, farmer and housewife. The diagnosis is pernicious economic anemia which is going into its 10th straight year. How much longer can the patient stand continued unemployment, crushing taxation, rapidly increasing debt, social unrest?

American industry is like a great machine on which depreciation and obsolescence have been greater than maintenance and repairs. The machine is wearing out. Our capacity to produce wealth is diminishing.

Here we are, the greatest nation in the world, with nearly every resource necessary for prosperity within our borders. Across the seas is Great Britain dependent on the outside world for its daily bread. Before 1933 our per capita income was greater than that of the average Briton. In 1932, for example, the Englishman made $100 while the American made $146.

But in the past 5 years the av-

BENEFIT DANCE SET FOR MAY 17

Council Voices Approval
For Kiwanis Club's
Undertaking

May 17 has been tentatively selected as the date for the Police-men's and Fireman's Ball to be sponsored by the Kiwanis Club.

A committee from the club consisting of Dan McClain, Don Walker, Virgil Cress, Sterling Lamb and Luther Bower obtained council's approval of the event Wednesday night.

Council voted to ask trustees of Memorial Hall to donate the hall for the social event.

Funds obtained from the dance will be divided three ways. One third will go to the Kiwanis club for the underprivileged children fund, one third to the firemen for their Christmas toy campaign, and the other third to the police department to purchase equipment.

FACULTY TOLD TO KEEP HANDS OFF COLLEGE PAPER

SALT LAKE CITY, — "Hands off the college newspaper."

That was the advice to faculty members by two 19-year-old girl editors who attended the recent 17th annual Rocky Mountain Inter-collegiate Press association convention in Salt Lake City.

They were Miss Genevieve Darrah, editor of the Mesa College Criterion at Grand Junction, Colo., and Miss Mary Kay Koklavich, editor of the Top of the World, publication of Western State Teachers College at Gunnison, Colo.

"After all, it's the students' paper and they ought to have the say about it," the girl editors said in a joint statement. "We welcome advice from the faculty, but don't want to be hampered by their ultra-conservatism."

In 1938, Ohio farmers participating in the national farm plan diverted 186,000 acres from soil-depleting crops to crops which stop productivity loss or increase soil productivity. These farmers applied 350,000 tons of limestone or its equivalent and 7,000 tons of fertilizer during 1938.

Payments to Ohio farmers under the 1938 national farm plan were approximately $9,000,000. This included payments for changing cropping plans from soil-depleting to soil-conserving and for the use of practices which improve the soil's productivity.

Mr. Kruse estimates that the increased participation by Ohio farmers in this year's program will result in payments of $12,000,000. Over-abundant stocks of grains and feed crops have convinced farm operators that it is bad economy to plant excessive acreages, and at the same time decrease the productivity of their farms.

SEYFERT AVENUE PROPERTY NEEDS WATER SUPPLY

Marvin A. Leist, Columbus, appealed to council in a letter Wednesday night for some assistance in working out a problem of obtaining water at his new home on Seyfert avenue.

After his home was under construction he learned the water line did not pass his lot, located at the east end of Seyfert avenue. A sanitary sewer extension is needed also.

Councilmen referred the problem of the water supply to the service committee. Arrangements will be worked out with the water company to extend a line. The city hopes to extend Seyfert avenue to Atwater avenue. If this is accomplished a fire hydrant will be needed in the new section.

Arrangements for a sewer extension will be worked out by L. E. Miller, service director.

PETTENGILL

"The Gentleman from Indiana"

It is high time to take national inventory. There is blame enough to go around. But forget the adjectives; what are the facts? Are we going ahead or not? This is a fundamental question.

Next October will be the tenth anniversary of the beginning of the depression. At no time have we reached the prosperity of the boom year of 1929. But worse than that, at no time have we reached the prosperity we enjoyed in 1923-4-5, the period that the government itself calls "par". And we now have 114 people where we had 100 then.

PETTENGILL If we once become fully aware of this simple fact we might suspend name calling and face saving and get down to business.

The Department of Commerce has recently published its report on national income from 1929 to 1937. The figures are the government's—not Wall Street's. What do they show?

They show that we have been living off our fat. They show that the nation is growing poorer, not richer. They show that the more abundant life has not been realized for the nation as a whole. Certain groups are better off, but the sum total of all groups is worse off.

Whether you are better or worse off than you were last year, or in 1929, or in 1923-4-5, depends on whether you have added to your net worth or gone behind.

Agriculture is the only large group that is better off. In the eight years since 1929 to the end of 1937, agriculture put on fat to the amount of 6.1 billions. Part of this came from subsidies. Manufacturing lost 9 billions, utilities lost 3.5 billions; wholesale and retail trade lost 5.9 billions; finance, and other business corporations lost 10.6 billions.

Agriculture was in the black 6.1 billions. The other groups were in the red 29 billions. Net loss in net worth 23 billions.

This report shows further startling facts. In every one of these eight years, manufacturing operated at a loss. So did utilities. So did wholesale and retail trade. So did finance. So did all the other corporate business. With the single exception of agriculture, all other business groups lost money every single year. In not a single year did any one group as a whole make money. In 1937 the net loss was 1.4 billions. All this has taken place despite (or because of) government pump priming.

This report does not give the figures for 1938 just ended. But everyone knows that 1938 was worse than 1936 and 1937. So it is apparent that the nation's balance sheet today is still farther in the red.

These government figures should challenge the attention of every citizen, public official, business man, labor leader, working man, farmer and housewife. The diagnosis is pernicious economic anemia which is going into its 10th straight year. How much longer can the patient stand continued unemployment, crushing taxation, rapidly increasing debt, social unrest?

American industry is like a great machine on which depreciation and obsolescence have been greater than maintenance and repairs. The machine is wearing out. Our capacity to produce wealth is diminishing.

Here we are, the greatest nation in the world, with nearly every resource necessary for prosperity within our borders. Across the seas is Great Britain dependent on the outside world for its daily bread. Before 1933 our per capita income was greater than that of the average Briton. In 1932, for example, the Englishman made $100 while the American made $146.

But in the past 5 years the average American had made less than the average Englishman. Using 1929 as par, or 100, earnings of American corporations in 1937 fell to 78, while in England they rose to 115. They were better off. We were worse off. And this was before Hitler scared Britain into war spending. On the same basis for the same year our national government spending had risen to 243. England rose only to 119. Per capita government debt, national and local, with us rose to 156. England rose only to 105. During eight years Britain's budget was practically balanced. Her government spending rose only 19 per cent while ours rose 143 per cent.

These facts are from the nation's fever chart. If some member of your family were sick, you would read the thermometer.

BENEFIT DANCE SET FOR MAY 17

Council Voices Approval
For Kiwanis Club's
Undertaking

May 17 has been tentatively selected as the date for the Police-man's and Fireman's Ball to be sponsored by the Kiwanis Club.

A committee from the club consisting of Dan McClain, Don Walker, Virgil Cress, Sterling Lamb and Luther Bower obtained council's approval of the event Wednesday night.

Council voted to ask trustees of Memorial Hall to donate the hall for the social event.

Funds obtained from the dance will be divided three ways. One third will go to the Kiwanis club for the underprivileged children fund, one third to the firemen for their Christmas toy campaign, and the other third to the police department to purchase equipment.

FACULTY TOLD TO KEEP HANDS OFF COLLEGE PAPER

SALT LAKE CITY.—"Hands off the college newspaper."

That was the advice to faculty members by two 19-year-old girl editors who attended the recent 17th annual Rocky Mountain Inter-collegiate Press association convention in Salt Lake City.

They were Miss Genevieve Darrah, editor of the Mesa College Criterion at Grand Junction, Colo., and Miss Mary Kay Koklavich, editor of the Top of the World, publication of Western State Teachers College at Gunnison, Colo.

"After all, it's the students' paper and they ought to have the say about it," the girl editors said in a joint statement. "We welcome advice from the faculty, but don't want to be hampered by their ultra-conservatism."

ENCIRCLING HITLER

BEFORE and during the World War, German children were taught to repeat in school, "Germany is our Fatherland, surrounded by foes." Spokesmen for the Nazi government are now raising the same cry, as a result of the effort of the democratic powers to check Hitler's growing aggression against Germany's neighbors. With every increase in the effectiveness of Prime Minister Chamberlain's new policy, there comes a louder wail from Berlin, mingled with dire threats.

"We must once more emphasize," says an official Nazi news agency, "that the Reich does not have any intention of waiting until the encirclement net has become closed and unbearable." Another Nazi spokesman declares, "The self-defense is on our side." The British government, praised so highly by the Nazis when it let them absorb Sudetenland, is now described as a ruthless power trying to destroy an innocent Fatherland by drawing a military net around it, to choke the life out of it.

This, as most Americans and many Germans know, is pure bunk. When a pacifist like Chamberlain is driven to war preparations and diplomatic encirclement of a dictatorship running amuck, it means that he and his people and their foreign associates are driven to it by great peril to them and their neighbors.

The present "encirclement" is an effort to draw a "sanitary cordon" of defensive nations around a country betrayed by its present masters into a tremendous effort to dominate Europe and destroy human liberty everywhere.

IN THE SWIM

THERE was a time when the American people did not think much about muscular exercise for its healthful effect. They got a good deal of it in doing their daily work without the aid of modern labor-saving devices. By 1868, however, some of them were beginning to need exercise apart from their routine labors.

"No recent tendency of the popular mind is more commendable," said a newspaper of that day, in an editorial, "than the signal awakening during the past few years to the importance of muscular exercise."

"The American people need to partake in exercise, and one of the best exercises is swimming. Perhaps some one will conceive the idea of how this sport may be adapted for the multitude and be suited for different climates. Exercise wards off disease, so perhaps some day there will be such a thing as a swimming rink."

The editor was a prophet, although we

Up to find a great threat of rain, but rain is to be expected right now. Isn't Easter practically here and haven't a lot of folk bought new togs? And if the sun shines Sunday we will all be out in them, too. Glanced over the morning prints and was pleased to learn that nothing had happened to further complicate the European situation during the night. What a powder keg that is. I wish Europe was on another planet.

The night before did listen in on the British newscast and learned how the government had bought millions of steel shutters for homes in London and how the educators had arranged for the immediate removal of all children from the city in the event of air attack. Think of the confusion. Imagine an aerial bombardment, your city a shambles, your children somewhere, but you knew not where. Maybe days would pass before you would learn whether or not they had escaped. Oh yes, war is a glorious thing. Women and children, homes of defenseless folk the target for great brave airmen.

Well, one day this will come to pass. The seat of British government will be moved to Canada. Then with the British navy guarding one shore and our navy guarding the other it is likely that we will be so strong that we will not need fear war. If that time were only here now.

Stopped for a chat with Milt Friedman and Elliot Henry. Learned that Ted Lewis is to spend Friday in the ville. Never have met Ted, but have seen him on the stage many times and long before I even knew there was such a town as Circleville. Saw him first in The Greenwich Village Follies in which, I think, he introduced "When My Baby Smiles at Me." Anyway he played it in the show. That was at a time when jazz orchestras believed they need not be good just so long as they were loud. Ted's band was not loud, but it was good.

A very pretty shell even though it may have no particular value. Visited briefly with Loring Hoffman and enjoyed a chat with Bud Harden. Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN.

STATE DEPARTMENT APRIL-FOOLED

WASHINGTON—Just before Hitler began his speech answering Great Britain on April 1, a young State Department officer started an April Fool joke that Hitler had been or was about to be assassinated.

The rumor spread like wildfire throughout the State Department. A few minutes later, officials sat down to listen to der Fuehrer's broadcast, and when, three sentences after he had begun, the speech was taken off the air, some State Department officials were convinced for a few minutes that the April Fool joke was true.

What actually happened, however, as far as the State Department could piece things together, was this:

Hitler is accustomed to speaking from a prepared address, usually takes three or four days in the seclusion of his Bavarian mountain retreat, to put his speech together.

But in this case, the British had just sprung their Polish alliance on Hitler, and he had no time to prepare a come-back. Furthermore, he had already prepared his speech for the launching of the 35,000-ton battleship.

For Hitler hurriedly to revise his speech, and include a hate harangue against the British, was extremely hard for him to do. So when the inner Nazi circle, waiting anxiously, heard their Fuehrer give way to three halting sentences at the very start, they hurriedly cut him off the air.

Those who consistently have heard Hitler broadcast ever since he started say that they had never heard him make such a poor showing. Definite impression in diplomatic circles is that Hitler was scared, that the British declaration of readiness to fight for Poland has made a profound impression.

Cancer Is Treated By Three Methods

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

IN 50,000 letters written by the lay public to the American Society for the Control of Cancer, the following questions are the most frequent on the prevention of cancer. The answers furnish the best modern scientific judgment.

How may cancer be prevented? By preventing, so far as possible, prolonged irritation to any part of the body. Specifically, protection from overexposure to the sun and wind; prompt repair of all birth injuries to the womb; permitting the breast to function normally; repair of jagged teeth; avoidance of ill-fitting dental plates; self-control in using tobacco; correction of chronic constipation—in short, elimination of unnecessary abuse of any tissue.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

What Lesion Means

What is meant by a precancerous lesion? Any abnormal condition that, if permitted to continue, will develop into cancer.

What are some of the more important precancerous lesions? White spot disease on mucous membranes; dry, scaly, itching patches on the skin, particularly the face; sores caused by jagged teeth and ill-fitting dental plates; dark-colored moles subject to irritation; unrepaired injuries due to childbirth. These should all be investigated by a physician.

Cancer of Mouth

What should be done to prevent cancer of the mouth? Keep the mouth clean. Repair or remove all jagged teeth. Do not use an ill-fitting dental plate that causes a sore on the gums. If white spots appear in the mouth or on the tongue, stop the use of tobacco. Do not hold pipestem or cigar holder in the same place all the time.

What precautions should be taken to prevent cancer of the skin? Dark-colored moles and warts, if subject to irritation, should be removed. Itching, scaly patches on the skin should be treated before they become open sores.

What precautions should be taken to prevent cancer of the breast? Every woman should have her breasts examined annually until she is 30, thereafter semi-annually, by a competent physician.

Cancer of Uterus

What precautions should be taken to prevent cancer of the uterus (womb)? Have all birth injuries repaired within six months after they occur. Have all unnatural vaginal discharges investigated. Up to the age of forty have an annual examination, thereafter a semi-annual one.

Why do many people wait before consulting physicians when cancer may be present or suspected? Primarily because of fear or ignorance of the nature of cancer, and of the vital importance of securing treatment early. Some people also think there is a social disgrace in having cancer. This is not a justifiable attitude.

CHAPTER FORTY-FIVE

AS LONA struggled back to consciousness again after fainting at the news that Jim was cleared, it seemed to her that everybody in the world had crowded into that tiny room at the police station. Opening her eyes, she found herself sitting in a big easy chair with Jim bending over her anxiously. Behind him what seemed like a sea of faces pressed forward, laughing and excited. Two more policemen in uniform had bobbed up from nowhere. Mrs. Morris was hovering over her, stroking her cold hands, and Dinah, in her wheel chair, was being helped across the doorway.

"I thought I'd never get here," Dinah was babbling. Her blue eyes were shining brighter than Lona had ever seen them, and her hair curled about her head like a golden halo. "The reporters told me the news as soon as they discovered that you had managed to run away from them, and I came right after you. Isn't it wonderful? . . . Oh, Jim, I'm so glad!"

She was bubbling over. Behind her crowded Ellis Langforth and his reporter friends, grinning and looking as important as if they, personally, had managed the whole thing. . . . The desk sergeant received them, still looking surprised, his round eyes going to Lona over and over again as if she were something rare.

"She never knew a thing," he still was marveling to anyone who would listen. "Imagine that! She come bustin' in here, all excited, with her eyes poppin' out, and wanted to know was he still alive."

Jim's eyes as he bent over her were tender, and the strained, unhappy look that had clouded them for so long had vanished. He was smiling, too, his appealing half-smile, that always brought to her mind the thought of Tiny.

"Jim!" His name rose to her lips in a choked whisper as she thought of Tiny.

"Jim!" His name rose to her lips in a choked whisper as she clung to him feeling the need for re-assurance.

"It's all over, girl," he told her, his voice holding the husky drawl she had missed so much when he was ill. "No more worries for us."

"Are you sure, Jim?" She was still incredulous, still afraid to believe. It was as if the strain had been too tense to allow her to throw it off in a moment like this. There MUST be some catch to it, her tired mind was telling her. It couldn't be true! This was too good to be happening to her. She was made for misfortune. She was afraid of this glimpse of heaven.

"You wouldn't—fool me, Jim?" she begged.

"Why, girl! Of course it's true!" He laughed his old ringing laugh. "It's all over, I tell you. We can forget it. We can be a regular family now. No more hiding and dodging. It's great!"

"You mean we can stay here in Brighton, now?" Her mind was slowly taking hold in spite of her fears.

"We can stay here with Dinah and Mrs. Morris, and all our—friends? We don't have to leave?"

"We can stay here forever if you feel like it."

"Oh, Jim!" She could say no more, but could only cling to him. Stopping suddenly lower, he gathered her into his arms and kissed her. There was happiness in that kiss; relief, too, and understanding. It made the staggering happenings of the last hour seem real to her for the first time, and she held him close while she kissed him back.

forgetful of the crowded room. "Hold it, will you!" somebody cut in, then, in a delighted voice. "Just a minute, please."

They both jumped to find Ellis Langforth and his photographer surveying them happily. The camera clicked even as Lona tried to shrink back, her old fears getting the best of her.

"Please—" she began, but Jim laughed and, catching her again in his arms, posed boldly.

"Take another one," he ordered. "Take all you want."

"Jim, they're for the newspapers! They'll be printed—"

"Who's afraid of the newspapers now?" He was jubilant. "Let them take all the pictures they want. Let them print anything they feel like printing!"

"How about a statement, Mr. Rankin?" Ellis Langforth broke in. "How does it feel to have a charge of murder lifted from your shoulders?"

"It feels grand," Jim grinned back at him, and Lona, her fears of newspaper men and the tragedy they might bring into her life slipping away before his new-found confidence, smiled with him.

"What are you planning for the future?" Langforth's pencil was lying over his notebook.

"Well, first we're going to California—on a honeymoon." Jim sounded as if he were planning aloud. "My wife's never been to California, you know. I have a sister out there I want her to know, now that—things have cleared up. Then we're coming right back here to Brighton to live. Mrs. Rankin likes it here. Clark Martin and I probably will go into partnership on the net patent and everybody is going to be happy." He waved a hand to include the whole room.

"And now I wish you'd let me off. I'm hungry, you see, and I'd like to eat. This has been a tough day."

A laugh went up at that and a movement toward the door began. "Just one more thing," Ellis

Langforth stopped them to beg "How about Mrs. Rankin? Hasn't she anything to say?"

For a moment Lona hesitated. It was hard, discarding her old shrinking from publicity. Then, realizing that a silence had fallen on the room, and that they were all waiting for her to speak, she looked up and smiled at Jim, a proud, slow smile.

"Just say I'm the happiest woman alive," she told them easily.

She was to repeat that brave statement once more, when they were back again in the privacy of their own living room in the Morris home. This time it was to Jim alone, she spoke.

"Do you really mean that, girl?" he asked, his arms straining her to him with new vigor.

"Mean it! Why, you know I mean it, Jim!"

"And you don't blame me for letting you in for all this? You're going to—forget it?" His voice was anxious, and his eyes were tender. "Blame you! Jim, don't be silly! I'm so happy I could cry! I—I—"

She broke off, to hide her head suddenly on his shoulder. "I believe I would have died, Jim, if they would have taken you away. I—couldn't live without you—"

"Girl!" His voice was still humble. "He bent his head to hers slowly. 'Till make it up to you,' he whispered."

He kissed her then, and the newsboy who strolled by outside, still calling a raucous "Ex-tra! Read all about it!" in the hope of culling a few more cents from the day's excitement, went by unheeded by either of them.

At the end of the block the newsboy paused, tiredly, and felt of the papers still in his canvas bag.

"Guess it's all over," he said, regretfully, and sat down on the curb beneath the street light to count the pennies that were his evening's earnings.

ENCIRCLING HITLER

BEFORE and during the World War, German children were taught to repeat in school, "Germany is our Fatherland, surrounded by foes." Spokesmen for the Nazi government are now raising the same cry, as a result of the effort of the democratic powers to check Hitler's growing aggression against Germany's neighbors. With every increase in the effectiveness of Prime Minister Chamberlain's new policy, there comes a louder war from Berlin, mingled with dire threats.

"We must once more emphasize," says an official Nazi news agency, "that the Reich does not have any intention of waiting until the encirclement net has become closed and unbearable." Another Nazi spokesman declares, "The self-defense is on our side." The British government, praised so highly by the Nazis when it let them absorb Sudetenland, is now described as a ruthless power trying to destroy an innocent Fatherland by drawing a military net around it, to choke the life out of it.

This, as most Americans and many Germans know, is pure bunk. When a pacifist like Chamberlain is driven to war preparations and diplomatic encirclement of a dictatorship running amuck, it means that he and his people and their foreign associates are driven to it by great peril to them and their neighbors.

The present "encirclement" is an effort to draw a "sanitary cordon" of defensive nations around a country betrayed by its present masters into a tremendous effort to dominate Europe and destroy human liberty everywhere.

IN THE SWIM

THERE was a time when the American people did not think much about muscular exercise for its healthful effect. They got a good deal of it in doing their daily work without the aid of modern labor-saving devices. By 1868, however, some of them were beginning to need exercise apart from their routine labors.

"No recent tendency of the popular mind is more commendable," said a newspaper of that day, in an editorial, "than the signal awakening during the past few years to the importance of muscular exercise."

"The American people need to partake in exercise, and one of the best exercises is swimming. Perhaps some one will conceive the idea of how this sport may be adapted for the multitude and be suited for different climates. Exercise wards off disease, so perhaps some day there will be such a thing as a swimming rink."

STATE DEPARTMENT APRIL-FOOLED

WASHINGTON—Just before Hitler began his speech answering Great Britain on April 1, a young State Department officer started an April Fool joke that Hitler had been or was about to be assassinated.

The rumor spread like wildfire throughout the State Department. A few minutes later, officials sat down to listen to der Fuehrer's broadcast, and when, three sentences after he had begun, the speech was taken off the air, some State Department officials were convinced for a few minutes that the April Fool joke was true.

What actually happened, however, as far as the State Department could piece things together, was this:

Hitler is accustomed to speaking from a prepared address, usually takes three or four days in the seclusion of his Bavarian mountain retreat, to put his speech together.

But in this case, the British had just sprung their Polish alliance on Hitler, and he had no time to prepare a come-back. Furthermore, he had already prepared his speech for the launching of the 35,000-ton battleship.

For Hitler hurriedly to revise his speech, and include a hate harangue against the British, was extremely hard for him to do. So when the inner Nazi circle, waiting anxiously, heard their Fuehrer give way to three halting sentences at the very start, they hurriedly cut him off the air.

Those who consistently have heard Hitler broadcast ever since he started say that they had never heard him make such a poor showing. Definite impression in diplomatic circles is that Hitler was scared, that the British declaration of readiness to fight for Poland has made a profound impression.

Cancer Is Treated By Three Methods

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
IN 50,000 letters written by the lay public to the American Society for the Control of Cancer, the following questions are the most frequent on the prevention of cancer. The answers furnish the best modern scientific judgment.

How may cancer be prevented? By preventing, so far as possible, prolonged irritation to any part of the body. Specifically, protection from overexposure to the sun and wind; prompt repair of all birth injuries to the womb; permitting the breast to function normally; repair of jagged teeth; avoidance of ill-fitting dental plates; self-control in using tobacco; correction of chronic constipation—in short, elimination of unnecessary abuse of any tissue.

What Lesion Means

What is meant by a precancerous lesion? Any abnormal condition that, if permitted to continue, will develop into cancer.

What are some of the more important precancerous lesions? White spot disease on mucous membranes; dry, scaly, itching patches on the skin, particularly the face; sores caused by jagged teeth and ill-fitting dental plates; dark-colored moles subject to irritation; unpaired injuries due to childbirth. These should all be investigated by a physician.

Cancer of Mouth

What should be done to prevent cancer of the mouth? Keep the mouth clean. Repair or remove all jagged teeth. Do not use an ill-fitting dental plate that causes a sore on the gums. If white spots appear in the mouth or on the tongue, stop the use of tobacco. Do not hold pipestem or cigar holder in the same place all the time.

What precautions should be taken to prevent cancer of the skin? Dark-colored moles and warts, if subject to irritation, should be removed. Itching, scaly patches on the skin should be treated before they become open sores.

What precautions should be taken to prevent cancer of the breast? Every woman should have her breasts examined annually until she is 30, thereafter semi-annually, by a competent physician.

Cancer of Uterus

What precautions should be taken to prevent cancer of the uterus (womb)? Have all birth injuries repaired within six months after they occur. Have all unnatural vaginal discharges investigated. Up to the age of forty have an annual examination, thereafter a semi-annual one.

Why do many people wait before consulting physicians when cancer may be present or suspected? Primarily because of fear or ignorance of the nature of cancer, and of the vital importance of securing treatment early. Some people also think there is a social disgrace in having cancer. This is not a justifiable attitude.

CHAPTER FORTY-FIVE

AS LONA struggled back to consciousness again after fainting at the news that Jim was cleared, it seemed to her that everybody in the world had crowded into that tiny room at the police station. Opening her eyes, she found herself sitting in a big easy chair with Jim bending over her anxiously. Behind him what seemed like a sea of faces pressed forward, laughing and excited. Two more policemen in uniform had bobbed up from nowhere. Mrs. Morris was hovering over her, stroking her cold hands, and Dinah, in her wheel chair, was being helped across the doorway.

"I thought I'd never get here," Dinah was babbling. Her blue eyes were shining brighter than Lona had ever seen them, and her hair curled about her head like a golden halo. "The reporters told me the news as soon as they discovered that you had managed to run away from them, and I came right after you. Isn't it wonderful? . . . Oh, Jim, I'm so glad!"

She was babbling over. Behind her crowded Ellis Langforth and his reporter friends, grinning and looking as important as if they, personally, had managed the whole thing. . . . The desk sergeant received them, still looking surprised, his round eyes going to Lona over and over again as if she were something rare.

"She never knew a thing," he still was marveling to anyone who would listen. "Imagine that! She come bustin' in here, all excited, with her eyes poppin' out, and wanted to know was he still alive."

Jim's eyes as he bent over her were tender, and the strained, unhappy look that had clouded them for so long had vanished. He was smiling, too, his appealing half-smile, that always brought to her mind the thought of Tiny.

"Jim!" His name rose to her lips in a choked whisper as she thought of Tiny.

"Jim!" His name rose to her lips in a choked whisper as she thought of Tiny. "Jim!" His name rose to her lips in a choked whisper as she thought of Tiny.

"It's all over, girl," he told her, his voice holding the husky drawl she had missed so much when he was ill. "No more worries for us."

"Are you sure, Jim?" She was still incredulous, still afraid to believe. It was as if the strain had been too tense to allow her to throw it off in a moment like this. There MUST be some catch to it, her tired mind was telling her. It couldn't be true! This was too good to be happening to her. She was made for misfortune. She was afraid of this glimpse of heaven.

"You wouldn't—fool me, Jim?" she begged.

"Why, girl! Of course it's true!" He laughed his old ringing laugh. "It's all over, I tell you. We can forget it. We can be a regular family now. No more hiding and dodging. It's great!"

"You mean we can stay here in Brighton, now?" Her mind was slowly taking hold in spite of her fears. "We can stay here with Dinah and Mrs. Morris, and all our—friends? We don't have to leave?"

"We can stay here forever if you feel like it."

Up to find a great threat of rain, but rain is to be expected right now. Isn't Easter practically here and haven't a lot of folk bought new togs? And if the sun shines Sunday we will all be out in them, too. Glanced over the morning prints and was pleased to learn that nothing had happened to further complicate the European situation during the night. What a powder keg that is. I wish Europe was on another planet.

The night before did listen in on the British newscaat and learned how the government had bought millions of steel shutters for homes in London and how the educators had arranged for the immediate removal of all children from the city in the event of air attack. Think of the confusion. Imagine an aerial bombardment, your city a shambles, your children somewhere, but you knew not where. Maybe days would pass before you would learn whether or not they had escaped. Oh yes, war is a glorious thing. Women and children, homes of defenseless folk the target for great brave airmen.

Well, one day this will come to pass. The seat of British government will be moved to Canada. Then with the British navy guarding one shore and our navy guarding the other it is likely that we will be so strong that we will not need fear war. If that time were only here now.

Stopped for a chat with Milt Friedman and Elliot Henry. Learned that Ted Lewis is to spend Friday in the village. Never have met Ted, but have seen him on the stage many times and long before I even knew there was such a town as Circleville. Saw him first in The Greenwich Village Follies in which, I think, he introduced "When My Baby Smiles at Me." Anyway he played it in the show. That was at a time when jazz orchestras believed they need not be good just so long as they were loud. Ted's band was not loud, but it was good.

Passed the time of day with Joe didirs and bowed to Charlie

Regretted that, for I have not had the pleasure of a chat with my old friend for many months. Ran into Harry Steinhauer and was lightened a pair of dollars for the tickets to the Crippled Children's Benefit Ball. That was a pleasure.

For almost a week have been trying to get into Dr. Bales' office to see his collection of shells gathered this last Winter in Florida. Every time I start that way something happens to prevent completion of the trip and I know I am missing something worth while. Saw a shell Ham Rogers picked up in Florida recently and which someone told him was very unusual. He on his way to Dr. Bales for information. A very pretty shell even though it may have no particular value. Visited briefly with Loring Hoffman and enjoyed a chat with Bud Harden. Clarence Wolf honked as he drove past and Ed Sensenbrenner commented on our common desire for real Spring sunshine.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

"Zaza" revolves about a beautiful and tempestuous vaudeville en-

GARDEN-GRAPH

After-planting protection for roses

Roses require after-planting protection until they have taken hold and are showing new growth. This protection is best provided by "mounding" the newly planted bushes.

To make a "mounding", as illustrated in today's Garden-Graph, make a hill of loose soil about 6 or 8 inches high, over the bush, or high enough to cover the pruned back branches.

The mound of loose soil will keep the newly planted rose bush moist and will protect it against drying winds and hot sun while the roots are endeavoring to take hold. After ten days or two weeks remove part of the mound to see if new growth has started. If it has, remove the rest of the mound, but do so carefully to keep from breaking off the tender new shoots. It is best to remove the soil covering from roses on a cloudy or rainy day.

obvious, however, that should Mussolini seize the Adriatic nation, he has Hitler's silent consent.

The German press, for the time being, was avoiding publication of references to the fast deteriorating Italo-Albanian situation.

British Prime Minister Chamberlain's statement in the House of Commons today was interpreted in well informed quarters as indicating less strength in the "Stop Hitler" movement than appeared on the surface.

Commenting on Chamberlain's announcement that the mutual unilateral British and Polish pledges would be replaced by an alliance, German quarters said:

"Although naturally this declaration, no matter what form it takes, has created a new element in the European situation, it looks as though loopholes have been left by leaving until later the full completion of the agreement. It looks as though somebody was not sure of himself."

London's anxiety over lightning air attacks which might be made on the British capital by Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering's air force or by other German attackers was scouted in Berlin as "ridiculous."

On the other hand, responsible German quarters justified the Innsbruck staff talks as a necessary counter-measure against the British and French activities to create an anti-aggression "front."

cially informed the Yugoslavian government of Premier Mussolini's plan to establish a protectorate over Albania.

Reliable information indicated the Belgrade government decided to offer no protest to the Italian plans and that this attitude was dictated by two considerations:

1 — Belief in Belgrade that the British government has given tacit, behind-the-scenes consent to Italian military occupation of Albanian ports.

2 — Existence of an Italian-Yugoslavian friendship treaty, under terms of which the Italian government informed Yugoslavia of its intentions.

King Zog May Remain

Belgrade official sources believed that while Italy proposes to exercise control over Albania, King Zog will be allowed to remain on the throne and Albania's nominal independence will be maintained.

It was pointed out Albania has been under Italian influence for 12 years and has accepted 12,000,000 lire annually from Rome. In addition, the Albanian army was trained by Italian officers and is equipped with Italian arms.

KENTUCKY AREA GAMBLING HIT

196 Indictments Returned Against Operators Of Games

INDEPENDENCE, Ky., April 6 —Gamblers and operators of slot machines throughout Kenton county staggered today under the blow delivered by a grand jury when it returned 196 indictments in an attempt to wipe out gaming in this section.

The jury's report, which climaxed a month-long probe into night clubs and resorts, also included a recommendation that a subsequent grand jury continue the investigation and include the river city of Covington.

Seventy indictments were returned against storekeepers and others charged with possession of slot machines and 70 others with suffering slot machine gambling.

Most severe blow was struck at an individual named James Brink and a club known as The Look-out House. A total of 44 separate charges were returned against the night spot and Brink. Brink was reported to be out of the city. Twenty-two were for operating slot machines and 20 for getting up games of chance. The other two also were for gambling.

During the investigation, Kenton county experienced several "arid" week ends, with the front doors of liquor spots closed and the rear doors reportedly doing a "rushing" business.

be made as soon as the final audit was completed.

Obviously disturbed by the ruling, Highway Director Robert S. Beightler immediately contacted the attorney general, seeking further clarification.

Beightler was informed, he said, that the ruling does not mean he is under obligation to accept certain supplies ordered by the previous administration which he has thus far turned down.

These disputed purchases, the director said, called for an expenditure of approximately $300,000.

Among the purchases which the highway head said his department could not use were 12 passenger automobiles contracted for with various firms and one special $10,000 vehicle ordered from the Twin Coach Corp. of Kent.

"The special car was supposed to be used to haul the highway department's motion picture equipment," Beightler explained. "We certainly don't need that. We can use a small truck to transport that."

The highway director was to meet this afternoon with Herbert and Ferguson to discuss the ruling.

TRAFFIC EXPERT says no one can become a perfect auto driver until he has reached the age of 30. That wouldn't be true of some folk we know if they lived to be 130.

PUPILS OF CIRCLEVILLE SCHOOLS TAKING TESTS

Thursday was test day for Circleville school pupils.

Poleska, who was to have been married in Jackson today, had but one explanation to police. He told of his impending wedding and said: "I just didn't have the nerve to go through with it."

cially informed the Yugoslavian government of Premier Mussolini's plan to establish a protectorate over Albania.

Reliable information indicated the Belgrade government decided to offer no protest to the Italian plans and that this attitude was dictated by two considerations:

1 — Belief in Belgrade that the British government has given tacit, behind-the-scenes consent to Italian military occupation of Albanian ports.

2 — Existence of an Italian-Yugoslavian friendship treaty, under terms of which the Italian government informed Yugoslavia of its intentions.

King Zog May Remain

Belgrade official sources believed that while Italy proposes to exercise control over Albania, King Zog will be allowed to remain on the throne and Albania's nominal independence will be maintained.

It was pointed out Albania has been under Italian influence for 12 years and has accepted 12,000,000 lire annually from Rome. In addition, the Albanian army was trained by Italian officers and is equipped with Italian arms.

KENTUCKY AREA GAMBLING HIT

196 Indictments Returned Against Operators Of Games

INDEPENDENCE, Ky., April 6—Gamblers and operators of slot machines throughout Kenton county staggered today under the blow delivered by a grand jury when it returned 196 indictments in an attempt to wipe out gaming in this section.

The jury's report, which climaxed a month-long probe into night clubs and resorts, also included a recommendation that a subsequent grand jury continue the investigation and include the river city of Covington.

Seventy indictments were returned against storekeepers and others charged with possession of slot machines and 70 others with suffering slot machine gambling.

Most severe blow was struck at an individual named James Brink and a club known as The Look-out House. A total of 44 separate charges was returned against the night spot and Brink. Brink was reported to be out of the city. Twenty-two were for operating slot machines and 20 for getting up games of chance. The other two also were for gambling.

During the investigation, Kenton county experienced several "arid" week ends, with the front doors of liquor spots closed and the rear doors reportedly doing a "rushing" business.

be made as soon as the final audit was completed.

Obviously disturbed by the ruling, Highway Director Robert S. Beightler immediately contacted the attorney general, seeking further clarification.

Beightler was informed, he said, that the ruling does not mean he is under obligation to accept certain supplies ordered by the previous administration which he has thus far turned down.

These disputed purchases, the director said, called for an expenditure of approximately $300,000.

Among the purchases which the highway head said his department could not use were 12 passenger automobiles contracted for with various firms and one special $10,000 vehicle ordered from the Twin Coach Corp. of Kent.

"The special car was supposed to be used to haul the highway department's motion picture equipment," Beightler explained. "We certainly don't need that. We can use a small truck to transport that."

The highway director was to meet this afternoon with Herbert and Ferguson to discuss the ruling.

Johnny Rizzo Clubs Homers To Aid Pirate Cause Against St. Louis

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 6 — There was sadness in the Cincinnati Redleg camp today following the repeated failure of Lefty Lee Grissom to reach the form expected of him. Grissom was shelved Wednesday by the Boston Red Sox in a 9-4 game. The shelling marked the fourth time in five starts that the big southpaw, key man to the success of the Reds, has been hammered mercilessly in the Grapefruit loop.

Manager Bill McKeechne was silent concerning Grissom's failure to show form, but he evidenced disappointment with a shake of the head.

Unless Grissom reaches the form expected of him, the Redleg chances for the loop title are believed much less than they were a month ago.

BATON ROUGE, La., April 6 — Reassuring word concerning the condition of Pitcher Carl Hubbell and Dick Coffman's sparkling performance on the mound in yesterday's intra-camp game put a smile today on the erstwhile dour visage of Manager Bill Terry of the Giants. Dr. J. Spencer Speed after examining Hubbell reported that his left elbow which was operated on was in perfect condition and that a pulled muscle in his shoulder will heal quickly with heat and rest. Coffman pitched six scoreless innings and yielded only three hits in the scrub game.

ORLANDO, Fla., April 6 — Although the Brooklyn Dodgers absorbed their second whitewashing of the citrus season at the hands of the Detroit Tigers 2 to 0 at Lakeland, yesterday, Manager Leo Durocher brought his charges to Orlando today to meet the Washington Senators with a boast that his infield was the best in the National league.

SWEETWATER, Tex., April 6 — Encouraged by their 4 to 1 win over the Chicago Cubs at El Paso yesterday, Chicago's White Sox came to Sweetwater today to try their strength against the Pittsburgh Pirates. The two Johnnies, Rigney and Whitehead, were scheduled to handle the Sox pitching assignments.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 6 — The Chicago Cubs were to arrive in San Antonio late today and had no game scheduled until they take on the St. Louis Browns here tomorrow. The Cubs ended a four-game winning streak at El Paso yesterday when their city rivals, the White Sox, won a 4-1 decision to make the standing in their series to date six wins for the Cubs and four for the Sox. The two Chicago teams renew their feud in Chicago eight days hence.

DAYTONA, Fla., April 6 — The Washington Senators were down in the dumps again today because of their "photo-finish" with the Baltimore Orioles, yesterday. The minors held the lead until the ninth when the Senators scored three runs to clinch the game 14 to 13. Arnold Anderson and Buckly Jacobs were the Senators' hurlers. Jake Early's erratic catching caused observers to doubt that he would get Rick Ferrell's job behind home plate.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 6 — A 7-4 sweep over the St. Louis Browns held the Pirates in their winning streak today. Johnny Rizzo contributed much toward giving Pittsburgh the two-game series by getting four of the 13

BRITISH RUNNER TO MEET KANSAN IN JUNE 17 TILT

PRINCETON, N. J., April 6 — The world's two greatest milers, Sydney Wooderson, of Great Britain, and Glenn Cunningham of America, will meet June 17 in Princeton university's invitation track meet.

The meeting of the two champion runners became assured today after Wooderson was granted permission to compete in the Princeton event by the British Amateur Athletic board after somewhat of a controversy. Wooderson holds the international outdoor record of 4.064 for the mile and Cunningham holds the indoor mark of 4.044. Wooderson also holds the world's half-mile record.

NEW YORK, April 6 — Daniel Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the national A.A.U., today announced the projected dual meet between the United States and Great Britain tentatively scheduled for Randall's Island July 26, has been canceled as a result of the acceptance of Sydney Wooderson, British running star, of an invitation to compete in the Princeton university meet June 17.

Wooderson's prior appearance at Princeton made the financial success of the Randall's Island meet problematical, Ferris explained.

Galento Leaves Stage Flat On Back; Joe Louis To Return Favor June 28

By PAT ROBINSON NEW YORK, April 6—Waddling down Broadway today we find... Two-Ton Tony Galento... announcing he has quit acting... and is leaving the stage flat on its back... which is where Joe Louis probably will leave him June 28...

"It will mean," says Frick, "about 25 fewer times at bat for those long ball hitters like Joe DiMaggio... He was at bat 599 times and got 194 hits for a .324 average last year... if we'd had the sacrifice fly rule he'd probably been at bat only 574 times with the same number of hits for a .340 average..."

MAXIE BAER IN CHICAGO TO START NOVA WORKOUT

CHICAGO, April 6—Somewhat sun-tanned and apparently serious minded, the latest revised edition of Max Baer, the California family man who is hitting the pugilistic comeback trail, was to take up in Chicago today where he never got around to starting yesterday.

To explain, the former heavyweight champion arrived in town early yesterday and started looking for the nearest gym where he planned a good workout. But the best of plans go astray, even for a reformed fighter, and Baer was kept so busy greeting old friends, posing for photographers and being generally sociable that he never did get around to his workout.

Today, however, it was to be different. Maxie gave his word he'd workout or else! Or else what? Or else he won't, maybe. At any rate Baer, who is slated to face a fellow Californian, Lou Nova, in a 15-round fight in New York June 1, is to all outward appearances in better physical condition now than he has been in many a moon. Right now he weighs less than he did when he entered the ring on his last three starts.

Chicago to Fete Their Beloved Gabby Cub fans certainly go for Gabby Hartnett as manager of those Baby Bears... On April 17 there'll be a big testimonial dinner in honor of Gabby... Now that he's boss, Hartnett rates a drawing room on trains... Until this year the big Chicago catcher always slept in the same lower berth, No. 6.

They say one of the reasons Mickey Cochrane lost out as manager of the Detroit Tigers was his bad guess on Al Simmons, his teammate in the great Athletic days... Under Cochrane the Tigers bought Al for $75,000 from Manager Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox, another A's alumnus, and later Al was sold to Washington for just one-tenth of that.

LOUIS' DEMAND TO CHOOSE RING OFFICIAL PLAYED

LOS ANGELES, April 6—The Joe Louis camp today received a scorching reply to demands George Blake referee or there would be no Louis-Jack Roper fight on April 17.

Speaking unofficially, but in no uncertain terms, Everett Sanders, local boxing commissioner, stormed into fight headquarters and relieved his blood pressure as follows:

"I don't know how the rest of the commission feels about it, but I do not intend to be shoved around or dictated to by Joe Louis, even if he is champion of the world.

"Louis or his handlers can request any referee they choose but as far as demanding that Blake or anyone else handle the bout—that's out!

"The champion is not entitled to any more consideration than a $25 preliminary boy or the challenger, either, for that matter. The commission will announce the referee this week and so far as I am concerned, Louis can take or leave it."

Sanders is expected to make the issue official tonight when the commission convenes in Dr. Harry Martin's office to take the squabble under consideration.

HERE'S REPORT OF OVERNIGHT SPORTS EVENTS

By International News Service Bill Brandt, National league service bureau chief, asserts First Baseman Lou Gehrig may have his best season yet for the Yanks this year; Pitcher Johnny Vander Meer of the Cincinnati Reds will suffer no ill effects from his recent influenza; Steve Messner may prove a capable replacement for Shortstop Dick Bartell of the Chicago Cubs, and Burgess Whitehead and Billy Judges make the greatest second base-shortstop combination in Glants history.

National Open golf championships qualifying rounds will be held at 32 points May 22, the 170 survivors to meet for the title at Conshohocken, Pa., June 8 to 10. Sydney Wooderson, of Great Britain, and Glenn Cunningham, of America, world's two greatest milers, to meet June 17 in Princeton invitation tourney.

Maxie Baer, in interview with International News Service, disposes of three leading heavyweights without striking a blow: "Louis—I'll knock him out next time; Galento—pshaw, just a preliminary boy; Roper—a fine old man."

Everett Sanders, Los Angeles boxing commissioner, reveals he'll not be "shoved around" by heavyweight Champion Joe Louis and that Louis will have to accept the commission's choice of a referee for the Louis-Roper bout. A demand that George Blake be named led to the outburst.

PLAINCLOTHESMEN GUARD BOSTON HOCKEY ATHLETES

BOSTON, April 6—A large squad of plainclothesmen was mobilized for duty today to keep an eye on missile-throwers when the Boston Bruins open the Stanley Cup final hockey play-offs tonight against the Toronto Maple Leafs.

If a repetition of last Sunday night's shower of missiles occurs, the upper balcony containing 1500 forty-cent seats will be closed for the remainder of the season, Manager Art Ross of the Bruins threatened.

Ross put his players through an hour's blackboard drill yesterday in preparation for tonight's contest. The best four out of seven games will determine the winner.

Boston Garden reported all seats but 2,000 which will go on public sale today have been taken up.

That's a good idea of Cornell Coach Carl Snavey's... He wants his gridders to do all the bicycle riding they can... Limber leg and back muscles, says Coach Carl, may prevent many a football accident... And you can't make a bike hit 70 miles per hour unless you drop it from the top of the Empire State building.

We learn that Jack Roper who met Joe Louis on the coast for what is advertised as a desperate struggle for the world's heavyweight championship has been "kayoad" several times in the movies by Bob Taylor and other cinema heroes... Well, next bout will be one in which there won't need be any retakes.

Incidentally, the ring sport has taken a leaf from the book of wrestling, a game which has been cluttered up for decades with Bulgians, Russians, Paralyzing Poles and Savage Serbs... This new boxer, Mohamed Fahmy, is really an Egyptian... Anyway, his folks make their home in Cairo and we don't mean Illinois.

BRITISH RUNNER TO MEET KANSAN IN JUNE 17 TILT

PRINCETON, N. J., April 6—

The world's two greatest millers, Sydney Wooderson, of Great Britain, and Glenn Cunningham of America, will meet June 17 in Princeton university's invitation track meet.

The meeting of the two champion runners became assured today after Wooderson was granted permission to compete in the Princeton event by the British Amateur Athletic board after somewhat of a controversy.

Wooderson holds the international outdoor record of 4.064 for the mile and Cunningham holds the indoor mark of 4.044. Wooderson also holds the world's half-mile record.

NEW YORK, April 6—Daniel Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the national A.A.U., today announced the projected dual meet between the United States and Great Britain tentatively scheduled for Randall's Island July 26, has been canceled as a result of the acceptance of Sydney Wooderson, British running star, of an invitation to compete in the Princeton university meet June 17.

Wooderson's prior appearance at Princeton made the financial success of the Randall's Island meet problematical, Ferris explained.

Galento Leaves Stage Flat On Back; Joe Louis To Return Favor June 28

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, April 6—Waddling down Broadway today we find... Two-Ton Tony Galento... announcing he has quit acting... and is leaving the stage flat on its back... which is where Joe Louis probably will leave him June 28...

At that, the theatrical patrons almost beat Joe to it... which is the real reason Manager Yussell Jacobs threatens to inflict Tony on San Francisco... for an exhibition bout.

Here's another fat bozo... Eddie Mead... glad-handing one and all... before sailing for England tomorrow... with Henry Armstrong... "twenty years ago," Eddie recalls, "I went over there in a cattle boat... now I'm going de luxe..."

This skinny bird... with the roving Adam's Apple... is National league Prexy Ford Frick... who believes the reinstated sacrifice fly scoring rule will increase batting averages about 15 points...

"It will mean," says Frick, "about 25 fewer times at bat for those long ball hitters like Joe DiMaggio... He was at bat 599 times and got 194 hits for a .324 average last year... if we'd had the sacrifice fly rule he'd probably been at bat only 574 times with the same number of hits for a .340 average..."

Wouldn't Get Up

Another fat man... Clarence Gillespie... who was manging fighters when Mike Jacobs was in knee pants... telling about the bartender... with more dough

MAXIE BAER IN CHICAGO TO START NOVA WORKOUT

CHICAGO, April 6—Somewhat

sun-tanned and apparently serious minded, the latest revised edition of Max Baer, the California family man who is hitting the pugilistic comeback trail, was to take up in Chicago today where he never got around to starting yesterday.

To explain, the former heavyweight champion arrived in town early yesterday and started looking for the nearest gym where he planned a good workout. But the best of plans go astray, even for a reformed fighter, and Baer was kept so busy greeting old friends, posing for photographers and being generally sociable that he never did get around to his workout.

Today, however, it was to be different. Maxie gave his word he'd workout or else! Or else what? Or else he won't, maybe. At any rate Baer, who is slated to face a fellow Californian, Lou Nova, in a 15-round fight in New York June 1, is to all outward appearances in better physical condition now than he has been in many a moon. Right now he weighs less than he did when he entered the ring on his last three starts.

Chicago to Fete Their Beloved Gabby

Cub fans certainly go for Gabby Hartnett as manager of those Baby Bears... On April 17 there'll be a big testimonial dinner in honor of Gabby... Now that he's boss, Hartnett rates a drawing room on trains... Until this year the big Chicago catcher always slept in the same lower berth, No. 6.

They say one of the reasons Mickey Cochrane lost out as manager of the Detroit Tigers was his bad guess on Al Simmons, his teammate in the great Athletic days... Under Cochrane the Tigers bought Al for $75,000 from Manager Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox, another A's alumnus, and later Al was sold to Washington for just one-tenth of that.

than sense... who bought a heavyweight... and was induced to bet $10,000 on his man... Just to make the frame-up look good... they let the bartender referee... and he gave his fighter the longest count on record... but... Sadly declaring his Lou Ambers' fight with Honey Melody in Boston April 14 has been set back to the 26th... Al has so many fighters he never knows where they all are at any given moment...

But he always manages to find out in time to collect his end... Here a short peppery bird... Jimmy Johnston... trying to get Detroit to raise the ante from $7,500 to $10,000... for his Bob (No-Pants) Pastor to fight Roscoe Toles...

Here's a saucer-eyed hombre... Walter (Popeye) Wood... who can't understand why he's only 2 to 1... to beat Buffalo's Paul Mahoney tonight... Jacobs To West Coast

Here's a round-shouldered gent it was no use... the fellow wouldn't get up... Al Well... who got that way lugging dough to the bank... Mike Jacobs... Declaring he will head for the coast Sunday... to see if that Jack Roper is as tough as advertised...

On the other hand... here are Jimmy Durante... and Joe Cook... getting ready to do their stuff for charity... at the Jack Dempsey 25 bucks-a-plate testimonial dinner Sunday...

And here's a thin man... Jack Doyle... the price-maker... getting up his annual slate on the baseball races... he's going to make Cubs and Yanks the tops... with the latter the shortest priced favorite in history but big-hearted Jack will let you write your own ticket if you think the Phils or the Athletics can win... Selah...

The champion is not entitled to any more consideration than a $25 preliminary boy or the challenger, either, for that matter. The commission will announce the referee this week and so far as I am concerned, Louis can take or leave it.

Sanders is expected to make the issue official tonight when the commission convenes in Dr. Harry Martin's office to take the squabble under consideration.

TOMMY BRIDGES MAY WIN TIGERS' FIRST GAME JOB

LAKELAND, Fla., April 6—

Veteran Tommy Bridges, once the mighty mite of the Detroit Tigers pitching corps, today held the inside track toward the opening game assignment after he blanked the Brooklyn Dodgers for seven innings yesterday in the Tigers' 2-0 victory.

HERE'S REPORT OF OVERNIGHT SPORTS EVENTS

By International News Service

Bill Brandt, National league service bureau chief, asserts First Baseman Lou Gehrig may have his best season yet for the Yanks this year; Pitcher Johnny Vander Meer of the Cincinnati Reds will suffer no ill effects from his recent influenza; Steve Messner may prove a capable replacement for Shortstop Dick Bartell of the Chicago Cubs, and Burgess Whitehead and Billy Judges make the greatest second base-shortstop combination in Giants history.

National Open golf championships qualifying rounds will be held at 32 points May 22, the 170 survivors to meet for the title at Conshohocken, Pa., June 8 to 10.

Sydney Wooderson, of Great Britain, and Glenn Cunningham, of America, world's two greatest millers, to meet June 17 in Princeton invitation tourney.

Maxie Baer, in interview with International News Service, disposes of three leading heavyweights without striking a blow: "Louis—I'll knock him out next time; Galento—phew, just a preliminary boy; Roper—a fine old man."

Everett Sanders, Los Angeles boxing commissioner, reveals he'll not be "shoved around" by heavyweight Champion Joe Louis and that Louis will have to accept the commission's choice of a referee for the Louis-Roper bout. A demand that George Blake be named led to the outburst.

PLAINCLOTHESMEN GUARD BOSTON HOCKEY ATHLETES

BOSTON, April 6—A large squad of plainclothesmen was mobilized for duty today to keep an eye on missile-throwers when the Boston Bruins open the Stanley Cup final hockey play-offs tonight against the Toronto Maple Leafs.

If a repetition of last Sunday night's shower of missiles occurs, the upper balcony containing 1500 forty-cent seats will be closed for the remainder of the season, Manager Art Ross of the Bruins threatened.

Ross put his players through an hour's blackboard drill yesterday in preparation for tonight's contest. The best four out of seven games will determine the winner.

Boston Garden reported all seats but 2,000 which will go on public sale today have been taken up.

Mayor Urges Business Houses To Close For Two Hours In Afternoon

CITY SCHOOLS DISMISS

Several Congregations Plan Communion During Day; Other Rites Listed

Appropriate services will be held in Circleville churches Friday in observance of Good Friday.

City schools will be closed. Under a proclamation issued by Mayor W. B. Cady the business houses of the city are asked to close from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m., so citizens may attend the various services. Most county schools will remain open.

Following a custom of many years, a union Good Friday service will be held in First Presbyterian church. The Rev. C. F. Bowman, pastor of the Methodist church, will present the sermon. This service is limited to one hour and will start at 2 p. m.

The union service is sponsored by the Circleville Ministerial association. Pastors of the various churches will take part in the service.

Trio To Sing
A trio consisting of Mrs. Clark Will, Mrs. Melvin Yates and Mrs. James Moffitt will sing "It Shall Come to Pass," from "The Holy City," by Gaul. Miss Abbe Mills Clarke, organist of First Presby-

REID, NEUDING NAMED ON FIRE PENSION BOARD

Councilmen William Reid and John Neuding were reappointed by other members of council, Wednesday night, as trustees of the firemen's pension fund.

A letter was sent to council by James Wickensimer, chairman, and Robert Wolf, secretary, of the trustees, asking the reappointment of the two trustees.

Council was asked also to appropriate $400 needed for the remainder of the year to pay the pension of Thomas Strawser, veteran fireman, who will retire from the department on May 1. Mr. Strawser's resignation, presented to Fire Chief Talmer Wise, was read before council.

Communion will be held in Trinity Lutheran church Thursday and Friday evenings at 7:15 o'clock. The Rev. G. L. Troutman will preach Thursday evening on "The Body That Was Broken and the Blood That Was Shed."

The Good Friday service will be held from 2 to 3 p. m.

Candlelight communion will be held in First United Brethren church Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

Special services will be held in St. Joseph's Catholic church. At 8 a. m. the reading of the prophecies will be followed by the unveiling of the crucifix and the mass of the Pre-Sanctified. who will determine if Charlie is really the "triple-threat" man he's supposed to be on the broadcast over the NBC red network at 8 p. m.

Dorothy Lamour has just returned from New York where she has been engaged in personal appearances. She rejoins the regular company of which includes Don Ameche, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, Donald Dickson, and Robert Armstrong and his orchestra.

'LIVES OF A BENGAL LANCER'

That action-packed classic of the English army in India, "Lives of a Bengal Lancer," is the Radio Theatre's dramatic vehicle Monday, April 10. The principal parts in Cecil B. DeMille's production will be taken by Errol Flynn, Brian Aherne, C. Aubrey Smith, and Jackie Cooper for the broadcast over the Columbia network at 9 p. m.

Responsible for an entire cycle of action-movies when it was presented in the films, "Lives of a Bengal Lancer" is what radio producers call a "natural" for their medium. The idea was suggested by the novel written by Francis Yeats-Brown.

RADIO PREVIEWS

Not to be outdone by the fashion experts, Gracie Allen will jump into the limelight with a word-by-word description of what her famous family will wear in the Easter Parade when she comes to the mike on the Burns and Allen program Friday, April 7, at 8:30 p. m.

Gracie's breathless, deathless details of what the Allens have resurrected from the family attic will be relayed to the public between musical numbers. Ray Noble will play "St. Louis Blues" and Frank Parker's solo will be "Penny Serenade." Gracie will sing but her song is sshh...secret.

A complete radio musical comedy titled "Local Boy Makes Good" will be presented by Jack Haley on his regular CBS program Friday, at 7:30 p. m. Theme of the story is that of the young country boy who writes a play, takes it to the city and scores a hit. Haley will sing a song titled "Local Boy Makes Good." A new arrangement of "Hooray for Spinnach" will be Virginia Verrill's vocal contribution.

Jackie Coogan and his wife, Betty Grable, will guest with Bob Hope Tuesday, April 11, at 10 p. m. over the NBC-Red network. Recently estranged, The Kid and his wife effected something of a reconciliation when Betty was stricken with appendicitis. They are currently making a moving picture, "Million Dollar Legs," together. Skinnay Ennis' band will provide the musical background, while Patsy Kelly and Jerry Colonna provide the fun.

COUNTY SCHOOLS TO CHANGE DATE FOR TRACK MEET

Payment of bills and routine business was transacted by the county board of education at its regular meeting Wednesday night. Superintendents of county schools will meet Saturday at 9:15 a. m. in the county school offices.

One matter to be considered by the superintendents will be the selection of a new date for the county track meet. The date has been set for May 13. The district meet at Ohio Wesleyan has been set for the same day. The county meet will be held at New Holland.

GIRLS PLAGUE CHARLIE

Casanova McCarthy's past catches up with him very suddenly when three of his girl-friends show up at once Sunday April 9. They are Priscilla Ramshackle, Claudette Colbert, and Dorothy Lamour who will determine if Charlie is really the "triple-threat" man he's supposed to be on the broadcast over the NBC red network at 8 p. m.

Dorothy Lamour has just returned from New York where she has been engaged in personal appearances. She rejoins the regular company of which includes Don Ameche, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, Donald Dickson, and Robert Armstrong and his orchestra.

'LIVES OF A BENGAL LANCER'

That action-packed classic of the English army in India, "Lives of a Bengal Lancer," is the Radio Theatre's dramatic vehicle Monday, April 10. The principal parts in Cecil B. DeMille's production will be taken by Errol Flynn, Brian Aherne, C. Aubrey Smith, and Jackie Cooper for the broadcast over the Columbia net-work at 9 p. m.

Responsible for an entire cycle of action-movies when it was presented in the films, "Lives of a Bengal Lancer" is what radio producers call a "natural" for their medium. The idea was suggested by the novel written by Francis Yeats-Brown.

RADIO PREVIEWS

Not to be outdone by the fashion experts, Gracie Allen will jump into the limelight with a word-by-word description of what her famous family will wear in the Easter Parade when she comes to the mike on the Burns and Allen program Friday, April 7, at 8:30 p. m.

Gracie's breathless, deathless details of what the Allens have resurrected from the family attic will be relayed to the public between musical numbers. Ray Noble will play "St. Louis Blues" and Frank Parker's solo will be "Penny Serenade." Gracie will sing but her song is shhh...secret.

A complete radio musical comedy titled "Local Boy Makes Good" will be presented by Jack Haley on his regular CBS program Friday, at 7:30 p. m. Theme of the story is that of the young country boy who writes a play, takes it to the city and scores a hit. Haley will sing a song titled "Local Boy Makes Good." A new arrangement of "Hooray for Spinnach" will be Virginia Verrill's vocal contribution.

Jackie Coogan and his wife, Betty Grable, will guest with Bob Hope Tuesday, April 11, at 10 p. m. over the NBC-Red network. Recently estranged, The Kid and his wife effected something of a reconciliation when Betty was stricken with appendicitis. They are currently making a moving picture, "Million Dollar Legs," together. Skinnay Ennis' band will provide the musical background, while Patsy Kelly and Jerry Colonna provide the fun.

COUNTY SCHOOLS TO CHANGE DATE FOR TRACK MEET

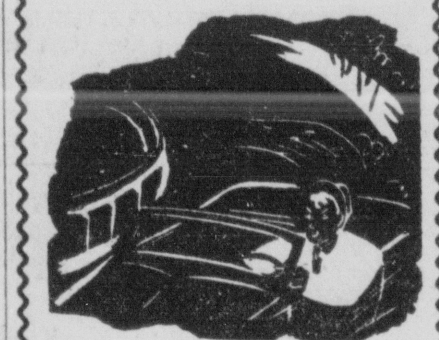

Payment of bills and routine business was transacted by the county board of education at its regular meeting Wednesday night. Superintendents of county schools will meet Saturday at 9:15 a. m. in the county school offices.

One matter to be considered by the superintendents will be the selection of a new date for the county track meet. The date has been set for May 13. The district meet at Ohio Wesleyan has been set for the same day. The county meet will be held at New Holland.
